The overriding ethos on campus is an enabling one, which seeks to maximize the opportunities for individuals to produce outstanding work in all spheres of law including but not limited to litigation, research, policy making, advocacy, arbitration and pro bono work. The spectrum of blended learning interdisciplinary courses offered by the University takes scholarship to a new level. With the aid of technology, we integrate face-to-face activities with online platforms to transform the way our students learn on, and increasingly, off campus.
